

DERBY GROUP · SALES SOURCING FOR THE BANK

Sourcing CRM

The controls that protect every file, how we measure revenue lost to wrong sourcing, and the reports management can run

IN BRIEF

One system, three outcomes for the business

Control at the point of sale

The bank's product rules are checked while the sales person is still with the customer: the right card for the salary, complete loan details, a manager's approval for exceptions.

Revenue loss made visible

Every card sold below what the customer qualified for is counted in points lost, by file, by staff member and by team, in the same cycle it happens.

Reports management can run

Ten reports on sourcing, pipeline, verification, targets, cards, exceptions and access, for any cycle or date range, by region, on screen or as a spreadsheet.

Underneath it all: customer data is masked, watermarked and logged, each role sees only its own region or team, and the whole system runs on our own server with no outside services.

THE JOURNEY OF A FILE

Four stages, with a control at each hand-off

Eight roles

Sales, processing, team leader, ASM, sales manager, MIS, business head and governance, each with its own screens.

Four products, two regions

Credit cards, personal loans, auto loans and accounts, sourced in Dubai and Abu Dhabi.

Built for the sales floor

Works in a phone browser: scan, dictate and submit from the customer's desk, no app to install.

Every file starts complete and correctly identified

What the screen does

The sales person scans the Emirates ID with the phone camera and the name, ID number and nationality fill in. Remaining details can be dictated. Region, products and the customer's salary bank are chosen from lists.

Why it matters

Typing errors in ID numbers were the most common reason the bank bounced a file. Scanning removes them, and the "read it back" check lets the sales person hear the number before submitting.

What it stops

Incomplete files. Required fields depend on the product, so a card file cannot be sent without a card, salary and fee type, and a loan file cannot be sent without its amount, rate and tenure.

APPLICATION

The right card for the salary, checked while the customer is present

- Category and points fill in Choosing a card from the bank's list of 65 fills its category (Mass, Premium, Super Premium), the salary it needs and the points it earns. Nobody types these.

- Salary qualifies for more

If the salary allows a higher category, the form lists those cards and the sales person can switch with one tap. Selling lower is still allowed, but it is recorded as a down-sell.
- Salary below the card's minimum

A warning blocks the file unless a reason is given: product deviation or new promotion. The reason is stamped on the file and reported.

Skywards Signature Credit Card

The customer qualifies for a higher card.

A salary of AED 32,000 meets the requirement for 19 cards above Premium. Consider offering one:

Darna Visa Infinite Credit Card · Super Premium

Etihad Guest Visa Elevate · Super Premium

Etihad Guest Visa Elevate Credit Card · Super Premium

Etihad Visa Infinite · Super Premium

Infinite Credit Card · Super Premium

Priority Banking Visa Infinite Credit Card · Super Premium

and 13 more in the card list

Premium

800

Salary below the card requirement.

Skywards Signature Credit Card needs AED 12,000 a month; the customer earns AED 9,000.

Why is this card being sold?

Product deviation

New promotion

Reference or note (optional)

Pick one to send the file straight for verification. Without a reason, the file first goes to your team leader or sales manager for approval.

Card sourced type *

Sourcing CRM · 5

No reason given, no verification until a manager decides

- The approval queue

A card file sent below the salary minimum without a reason goes to an Awaiting approval queue for the team leader, ASM or sales manager. Processors cannot pick it up.
- The decision

The manager records the reason (deviation or promotion) and releases the file to verification, or returns it to the sales person with a note. Their name and time are stamped on the file.

- Why it matters

Exceptions are decided by a named manager before the file reaches the bank, not discovered in the bank's audit months later.

Buy-outs and auto loans cannot be submitted half-described

- Personal loans

Fresh, top-up or buy-out, with tenure capped at 48 months. A buy-out must name the personal loan being bought, its bank and amount. Every loan confirms whether there are secondary buy-outs: cards with limits and banks, non-STL loans, auto loans or mortgages.
- Auto loans

New or used, car make, model and year, dealer, lead source, rate of interest and tenure up to 60 months.
- Why it matters

The bank's liability picture is complete on day one, and the reports can show which banks we are buying out and where auto loan leads come from.

A second person confirms every detail with the customer

- ### What the processor does

Picks the file from the region's queue, calls the customer, reveals the phone number only to dial, and confirms the salary, employer, product and amounts. Each call is logged with its outcome.
- ### When something is wrong

No answer: a call-back is scheduled and chased. A mismatch: the file goes back to the sales person with a note, is corrected, and returns for re-verification.
- ### The outcome

Completed, pending or rejected, with notes. Nothing reaches the bank unverified, and the verification report shows each processor's calls, call-backs and turnaround.

Once a file is submitted, sales staff cannot take the customer's data with them

- Hidden and masked

The sales person sees the customer's phone numbers as Hidden and the Emirates ID, passport and salary only as masks, with no way to reveal them. Processors and managers reveal only what they need, and each reveal is logged.
- Watermarked

Every screen carries a faint watermark of the signed-in user and the time, so a photo or screenshot can be traced to its source. Uploaded documents are stamped the same way.
- Why it matters

The bank's customers' data stays inside the file. A leaver takes no phone list, and the governance team can answer "who looked at this customer" from the log.

REVENUE LOSS FROM WRONG SOURCING

Every card has a points value, so every wrong card has a cost

Figures are from the demo's sample data for one cycle, to show the method. Deviations below the salary minimum are the second loss: files the bank may decline after our effort, reported separately.

Cards sold below eligibility, with the points lost on each

Per file Card sold, category sold, category eligible, points earned, possible and lost.	Per person Totals by sales person, with team leader and manager on every row for the conversation that follows.	Any period, any region A sales cycle or a date range, Dubai, Abu Dhabi or both, on screen or downloaded as a spreadsheet.

Deviations and promotions: effort at risk of a bank decline

What it lists

Every card sold below the salary the bank requires, the reason recorded, and who approved it.

What it tells us

How much of our card volume depends on exceptions, by team and by approver, and how many files are still waiting on a decision.

The conversation with the bank

When promotions change or deviations are questioned, we have the list, the dates and the names.

REPORTS FOR MANAGEMENT

Ten reports, run by management without asking anyone

Report	What it answers
Sourcing	Files sourced per staff, team and product, with deviations and down-sells
Pipeline	Where every open file sits and for how long
Verification	Calls, call-backs, corrections and turnaround per processor
Targets	Target against achievement per staff member for the cycle
Cards	Cards sold by family, category and activation
Card deviations	Cards sold below the salary rule, with reason and approver
Cards below eligibility	Down-sells with points earned, possible and lost
Governance	Rejections, re-verifications and exceptions by team
Access log	Who viewed, revealed or exported which customer's data
Case register	One row per file for the period, personal data masked

Any sales cycle or date range, one region or both, on screen or as a spreadsheet. Every run is logged with who ran it and when. Managers run the reports for their own teams; MIS, the business head and governance for the whole business.

DASHBOARD

The business head opens to the whole business, or one region

Region switch

All regions, Dubai or Abu Dhabi, at the top of every page. It applies to the dashboard, the case list, the team view and every report.

Cycle at a glance

Targets against achievement per product, files by status, and the same numbers broken down by region.

Role-shaped

A sales person sees their own files and target; a processor the region's queue; a team leader the team. Same home page, different tiles.

TEAM VIEW

One tree from region to manager to team leader to staff

Numbers add up at every level

Sourced, completed, rejected, target and achievement for the cycle, per staff member, rolled up to team leader, manager and region.

History holds

Staff who moved or left still appear under the team that owned their files, so a manager's past cycle never changes after the fact.

Each manager sees their own

A team leader opens to their team, a sales manager to their teams, the business head to everything.

Targets come from the staff master and achievement from completed files

- One record per staff member

HRMS code as the login, region, team leader, ASM and manager, dates of joining and leaving, salary and core product. Only MIS and the business head create or change accounts; leavers are switched off on their leaving date.
- Targets by salary band

Card and auto loan targets in points, personal loan targets in disbursal value, generated for the cycle from the staff member's salary band. Achievement counts each completed file at its real points.

GOVERNANCE

Who looked at which customer, and when, without asking anyone

Access log

Every file opened, every reveal of a phone, ID, passport or salary, and every report run, with the user and time. Filter by staff member, customer or file.

Governance tools

Quality checks, call scores, complaint numbers, urgent flags and call recording requests that the business head approves.

On our own server

One process, one database file, no outside services, with a deployment guide, backup script and environment template handed to IT.

WHERE WE ARE

Every file is checked at the point of sale, verified by a second person, and measured in points earned and points lost.

Ready

Working system with the bank's card list loaded, a deployment pack for IT and automated tests.

Needed to go live

Salary bands for targets, the auto loan points table, and the staff master upload.

Parked by choice

Automated verification calls, WhatsApp alerts and integration with the bank's systems.
